FAN ONCE CARRIED IN HISTORIC SCENES

A fan which was at one time the property of the famous actress, Charlotte Cushman, and which was given her by the Empress Eugenie of France, is at present the desire of about every antiquarian in America. It is now in a Boston collector's cabinet, and is to be sold at public auction.

This fragile toy, wrought of mother of pearl, gold and the toll of the artist's brush, has been a witness of some of the world's greatest history. Long ago it belonged to the Empress Eugenie and formed part of the trousseau she brought to France as the unhappy bride of Napoleon. It was one of her most treasured possessions and was a marvel of the skill of the period.

Even without its associations it is yet a beautiful thing. The sticks are of mother of pearl, inlaid with flowers of gold, while the fan itself is covered with symbols and flowers of gold and crimson; a little dimmed by the years, perhaps, but still as wonderfully artistic as when the artist first laid them on.

In the center is a Spanish scene, with teapots and ladies cavorting to the music of Spanish pipes, while a quaint little girl sits near her mother on a rock.

When the Empress Eugenie heard the young American actress play, with characteristic generosity she plucked the fan from her girle and gave it to Charlotte Cushman.—Exchange.
